

His Eminence the Arch-Bishop, the Lords Paladins, Artisans, Sages, Their Lordships the Earls and Barons, Nobles, Castilians and Crusaders, Knights, Priestesses, Dames and Ladies and their successors forever.

A heartfelt desire should be met with satisfaction and fulfillment. Foreasmuch as of thine affection thou hast requested the formation of a Society, dedicated to the art and love of gaming, should be supported by the governance of this crown. As such, we happily receive thy petition with paternal kindness and ordain by virtue of the present decree that the Castle and Crusade Society shall always be under the guidance and the guardianship of the Lords and crown of this monarchy.

All things therefore that have been acquired for the support of gamers everywhere, from the Emerald Fire, to Shotwick Manor, beyond the seas to the City State of Khauran the Distant and more, or those who have been presented by faithful men, no matter who, or may be presented in the future, by the Grace of time, we decree shall be held forever in peace and undiminished.
